

England is Frightened

THE PROSPECT OF ATTACK FROM ACROSS THE CHANNEL

AT KRUPP GUNS, NOT MAIN VESSELS, MADE ATTACKS ON DUNKIRK

MAY 1.—BELATED EXPLANATIONS TENDING TO SHOW THAT THE BOMBARDMENT OF DUNKIRK WAS EFFECTED BY GREAT GERMAN GUNS 22 MILES AWAY INSTEAD OF BY GERMAN WARSHIPS, ARE CAUSING EVEN GREATER ANXIETY IN ENGLAND TODAY. RECENT CLAIMING THAT THE KRUPP FACTORY AT ESSEN IS PERMANENTLY A GUN THAT WILL THROW SHELLS 27 MILES IS CAUSING GREAT UNEASINESS. SHOULD THE GERMANS SUCCEED IN THE COAST NEAR CALAIS, THEY COULD BOMBARD DOVER AND THE ENGLISH CHANNEL.

MAY 1 (Official).—THE GERMANS AGAIN BOMBARDED DUNKIRK LAST NIGHT, TEN SHELLS FALLING INSIDE THE CITY. NUMEROUS CASUALTIES ARE REPORTED. NO MENTION IS MADE OF THE WARSHIPS.

THERE IS NO CHANGE IN THE GENERAL SITUATION.

MAY 1, Eng. May 1.—A German aeroplane which attempted to reach the coast was pursued by a British biplane. Thousands watched the thrilling race and both machines were lost in the distance.

STRANGERS WARNED OVER LUSITANIA ON WAY TO DESTRUCTION

NEW YORK, MAY 1.—JUST BEFORE THE BRITISH LINER LUSITANIA SAILED TODAY, FIFTY PROMINENT PERSONS, PASSENGERS ON THE VESSEL, RECEIVED TELEGRAMS WARNING THEM THAT THE SHIP WOULD BE TORPEDOED AND SUNK BEFORE REACHING ENGLAND. A LITTLE WHILE BEFORE THE VESSEL CLEARED, A NUMBER OF MYSTERIOUS FOREIGNERS CIRCULATED AMONG THE PASSENGERS WHISPERING, "DEATH WILL ACCOMPANY THE LUSITANIA ON THIS VOYAGE. DON'T GO." INVESTIGATION FAILED TO REVEAL THE IDENTITY OF THE SENDERS OF THE MESSAGES, AND THE STRANGERS WHO WHISPERED THE WARNINGS DISAPPEARED.

THE INCIDENT CAUSED A TREMENDOUS SENSATION, BUT DID NOT HAVE THE EFFECT OF DETERRING THE LUSITANIA FROM CONTINUING HER VOYAGE.

RUSSIANS CHECK THE GERMAN ADVANCE UPON KOVNO, CLAIMS CAPITAL

ST. PETERSBURG, MAY 1.—THE RUSSIAN FORCES IN NORTHERN POLAND HAVE SUCCEEDED IN CHECKING THE GERMAN ADVANCE IN THE DIRECTION OF KOVNO, ALONG THE DUBISSA RIVER, AND HAVE STOPPED THE OFFENSIVE.

AT AN ANGLE FORMED BY THE NIEMEN AND DUBISSA RIVERS, A BATTLE COMMENCED NORTH OF THE NIEMEN YESTERDAY, AND CONTINUES TODAY WITH GREAT VIOLENCE. THE GERMAN FORCES ARE UNDER COMMAND OF THE KAISER'S SON, JOACHIM. THE LONG, BLOODY CONFLICT IN THE CARPATHIANS CONTINUES ALONG THE USZOK-STRYJ FRONT, WHERE BOTH SIDES HAVE LATELY SUFFERED VERY HEAVY LOSSES, ACCORDING TO OFFICIAL REPORTS.

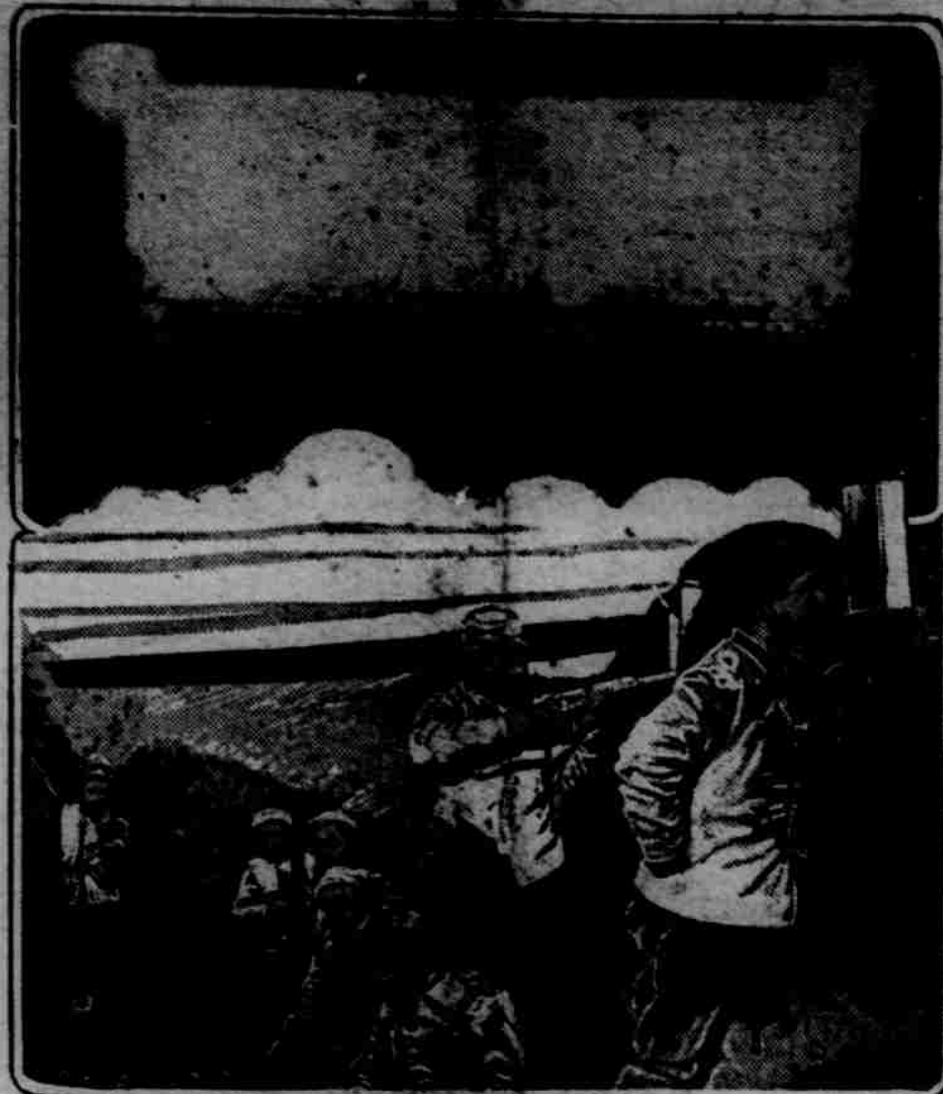

GERMAN AIRMEN DAMAGE BELFORT.

NEUCHÂTEL, Switzerland, May 1.—Seven German aeroplanes attacked the French fortress at Belfort, Thursday morning, dropping numerous bombs and causing serious damage. French artillery finally drove the aeroplanes away.

RUSSIAN SHIP SUNK OFF IRELAND.

GLASGOW, May 1.—The Russian steamer Svorono was torpedoed off the west coast of Ireland by a German submarine, today.

JAP DEMANDS FLATLY REFUSED BY CHINESE?

PEKIN, MAY 1.—CHINA'S REPLY TO THE DEMANDS RECENTLY MADE BY JAPAN WAS HANDED THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR THIS AFTERNOON. FROM A REPUTEDLY RELIABLE SOURCE IT IS REPORTED IN PEKIN THAT THE REPLY CONTAINS A FLAT REJECTION OF JAPAN'S DEMANDS, INsofar AS THEY RELATE TO THE SOVEREIGNTY OF CHINA.

BRINSON RAILWAY NOT BOUGHT, SAYS OFFICIAL.

AUGUSTA, May 1.—Following a report yesterday that the Savannah and Northeastern railroad had been purchased by the Georgia railroad and that this afforded the Louisville and Nashville road an outlet to the sea, Cashier Brown, of the Georgia Railroad company, today denied the story.

TURKS BEATEN AGAIN NEAR SUEZ.

LONDON, May 1.—The British camel corps again defeated the Turks, twelve miles east of the Suez canal, Wednesday. The enemy retreated afterward.

DESPITE GREAT LOSSES, ALLIES PUSH ONWARD TO THE BYZANTIUM CITY

LONDON, MAY 1.—WITH GREAT BRITAIN'S GIGANTIC SUPER-DREADNAUGHT, THE QUEEN ELIZABETH, IN THE LEAD, THE ANGLO-FRENCH FLEET IS EFFECTIVELY BOMBARDING NOT ONLY THE TURKISH FORTS BUT ALSO THE TURKISH ARMIES ON BOTH THE EUROPEAN AND ASIATIC SIDES OF THE DARDANELLES. THE HUGE KRUPP GUNS MOUNTED IN THE ENEMY'S FORTS HAVE DONE SOME DAMAGE TO SEVERAL OF THE ALLIES WARSHIPS, BUT THIS IS SLIGHT.

TURKISH AEROPLANES ATTACKED THE BRITISH FORCES AT SARIBAIR AND NEAR KASATEPE, AND SOME LONG RANGE GUNS IN TURKISH FORTS WERE TURNED INLAND, THROWING SHELLS AGAINST THE REDOUTS BUILT BY THE LAND FORCES OF THE ALLIES. THE LATTER, ALTHOUGH SUFFERING SEVERE LOSSES, CONTINUE TO ADVANCE.

FORCES WITHDRAWN FROM THE NORTH, SOUTH AND EAST PORTIONS OF THE MAIN TURKISH ARMY ON THE GALLIPOLI PENINSULA AND CONCENTRATED ALONG THE DARDANELLES BETWEEN GALLIPOLI AND MAIDOS ARE IN DANGER OF BEING BOTTLED UP BY THE BRITISH. LONG-RANGE FIRE OF THE FLEET GUNS PREVENTS THE TURKS FROM CROSSING TO THE ASIATIC SIDE OF THE STRAIT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, MAY 1.—SINCE THE LAND OPERATIONS COMMENCED IN THE DARDANELLES REGION THE ALLIES HAVE LOST, IN KILLED AND WOUNDED, 10,000 MEN. SEVERAL SAILING VESSELS FILLED WITH SOLDIERS WERE SUNK OFF SEDIL-BAHR.

CONSTANTINOPLE, MAY 1 (Official).—THE BRITISH BATTLESHIP VENGEANCE WAS DAMAGED AND SET AFIRE BY TURKISH SHELLS, AND A LITTLE LATER WAS COMPELLED TO RETIRE FROM THE DARDANELLES TOWARD TENEDOS. THE WARSHIPS JEAN D'ARC, MAJESTIC AND TRIUMPH WERE ALSO DAMAGED BY TURKISH SHELLS. EXCEPT THE FORCE AT GABA TEPEH, THE ALLIED TROOPS HAVE BEEN DRIVEN FROM GALLIPOLI PENINSULA.

ARTILLERY SHELLED DUNKIRK, SAYS BERLIN

BERLIN, MAY 1.—ALL OF THE RECENT ATTACKS MADE BY THE ALLIES IN FLANDERS FAILED. THE FORTRESS AT DUNKIRK HAS BEEN SHELLED BY GERMAN ARTILLERY.

AT THE EAST, RUSSIAN FORCES OCCUPYING SZUWLE EVACUATED THE TOWN AFTER SETTING FIRE TO IT. TWO THOUSAND OF THE RUSSIANS WERE CAPTURED. RUSSIAN ATTACKS IN THE VICINITY OF PLOCK AND KALWARJA WERE REPULSED.

PENNSYLVANIA CITY TO STOP OUTFLOW OF MONEY
READING, Pa., May 1.—The Reading chamber of commerce, at its annual meeting yesterday considered a proposal by the Harrisburg chamber of commerce looking to co-operation in "action to reduce the success of improper vending, out-of-town charity solicitation, special advertising and promotion schemes that are taking too much money out of Pennsylvania cities."

Mrs. H. A. Caswell and her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. F. Roberts, who had been with her during the greater part of the season at her winter home, 125 South Ridgewood avenue, departed Friday on their return north for the summer. Mrs. Roberts will go to her home in East Kingston, N. H., where Mrs. Caswell will join her after spending a couple of weeks in New York.

WOULD ADVERTISE CITY WITH "MOVIES"

Editor Daily News:

Having attended the meeting of citizens at the opera house last Monday evening and also read the comment in Thursday evening's paper, would like to put a proposition before the people.

For the sum of $2,000 (two thousand) I will advertise the city of Daytona and vicinity, including Seabreeze and Daytona Beach, in not less than five reels of moving pictures. These pictures are to be shown outside of the state of Florida, and a lecture to be given with three of the reels.

I will agree to turn back to the city of Daytona 10 per cent. of the net profits of the pictures for other advertising as a committee's judgment may think best.

I will place myself under bond to show the pictures not less than 300 times in the season.

Respectfully,

J. F. NORMAN,

"California Diamonds."

"California diamonds" are made from crystals of quartz, the most abundant of all minerals. Sometimes they are cut and sold as "white topaz," but more often as California diamonds.

Drink and Live Long.

According to a Roumanian scientist, anyone may live to be a hundred, barring accidents, if he drinks enough water. This scientist claims to have demonstrated that old age is due to a decrease in the amount of water in the system. He contends that old Father Time may be checked by systematic water drinking during middle age.

A Cinch.

"How did you find the roads down East, Mrs. Nurich?" "Oh, it was very simple. We had a guide book."

Odd.

It is odd that the man who speaks without thinking is the one most apt to say what he thinks.

THE WINNER

By AUGUSTUS G. SHERWIN.

(Copyright, 1914, by W. G. Chapman.)

"Well, boys," spoke Stephen Dale in a brisk hearty way, "here we all are and we will now proceed to the division of the spoils!"

His three elder sons, Henry, Claud and Montgomery, looked impressed and eager. His youngest, Jack, smiled in half pleased interest.

The four sons sat at a table facing their father, who had at his elbow a pile of documents and a check book.

"I have brought you all together," he now announced, "to tell you that, having all of you reached man's estate, it is time that you should assume some personal independence and responsibility. I'm not going to leave my estate so that there will be a family squabble over it. I'm going to divide it up. Here. Now. Fairly."

Claud, the lawyer, who had changed his name to Claudius, because he fancied it sounded more classical, pricked up his ears and looked serious.

"I'll tell you at the start," pursued the indulgent father, "that whoever takes Idlewild here, the family home, will be the wise fellow in the end. You can have your choice, Claud, being the eldest—the home or $25,000 cash."

"H'm!" observed Claudius gravely, "with a vast political future ahead of me, the ready cash will best help me reach the destined goal of my ambition."

"Very good," nodded Mr. Dale.

"And you, Monty?"

"I," replied Montgomery with short and snappy precision "expect to receive a general's commission in time. The money will help me get it."

"And you, Hank?"

"I am devoted to club life, in debt and need a fixed cash income, my good father," he said, "so I fancy the ready money would suit me best."

"Of course I'll take the old home, if I'm lucky enough to deserve it," spoke bluff honest Jack.

Stephen Dale darted a grateful, affectionate glance at his youngest and favorite son. He drew out the three checks and passed them around.

"One word more," he spoke, as their recipients arose to get them cashed as quickly as possible. "There's something else. See here, boys, my experience teaches me that there's nothing so steadies a young man as getting married. Now then, to the first one of you who takes a wife I will give $10,000, to the second $5,000, to the third, $3,000 and to the last, $1,000. By the way," he added, a suggestive twinkle in his merry eye, "I'm thinking you won't have to look far to find the prettiest heiress in the country right nigh to hand."

Each one of the three knew whom he meant—Miss Dalia Bliss, not a mile away. It was said she was to have half a million in her own right. It was strange, but each one of the trio departed determined to call upon the young lady in question and see how the land lay.

Two mornings later Claud met Henry and Monty. He informed them that he had called upon Miss Bliss the evening previous. Her father had been greatly interested in his long talk about the law.

Then Monty in undress military uniform went to see the heiress. Henry's turn followed. He fancied he was irresistible and languidly informed his brothers that he believed he would take the girl on a chance.

Miss Bliss had been dreadfully embarrassed at being taken by storm by three impetuous suitors. Then she had told them in her pretty, artless way that she was already engaged.

About three o'clock one afternoon Jack, plain, simple, unostentatious Jack to the end of the chapter, directing some men in parking a roadway running through the estate, looking over in the direction of the Bliss home had noted a blue ribbon fluttering from one of its windows. He quietly left the direction of the workmen to one of their number. In a few minutes Jack had gained the hedge separating the two estates.

Soon Dalia appeared. Certainly Jack was her friend, that she should signal him and now make a confidant of him, and pour into the willing ears the story of her persecution by three great overgrown boys!

"And such nice brothers of yours they are," she told Jack.

"What a terrible escape they have had in evading the wiles of a young lady who is not duly awed by their grandeur and importance," smiled Jack.

It was the next morning that the three city brothers were ready to depart. They were just completing breakfast when Jack made the remark:

"Father, if you don't mind, I think I will run up to the city with the boys."

"Surely, son," responded Mr. Dale. "You will need some money, I suppose?"

"No, I have enough for the one purchase I intend to make," assured Jack. "It's a ring, father," and he darted a teasing glance at the lawyer, the soldier and the top—a ring for Miss Bliss. You see we have been engaged for the last six months."

"Ha! ha! ha!" chuckled old Stephen Dale, slapping his knee with vim as the trio arose from the table and sneaked away, looking bored and embarrassed. "It seems to me, son Jack, that you've got the best of it all around!"

DOG'S HARELIP IS FIXED

Milwaukee Surgical Performs Successful Operation on Blooded Boston Bull Pup.

Milwaukee.—The craze for flesh and bone carpentry has reached Milwaukee dogdom. Because its mistress did not like the appearance of the harelip worn by Lady Abbot, a blooded Boston bull pup, the animal has been in a dog hospital to have the lip fixed by the knife and needle.

Lady Abbot was the runt of her litter and, though three months old, now weighs only a pound. A Boston bull, it appears, can be beautiful in its own Boston bull way, and to make Lady Abbot beautiful it was necessary to cut open the lip on each side of the seam, and then sew the lip up again, a dozen stitches being needed for this operation.

The operation was a success, and Lady Abbot is now recovering. She is the property of Mrs. John Hartkopf, wife of the head of the city natatoriums, and the operation is the first of its kind on record on a dog.

"HUCKLEBERRY FINN" AT 70

Original of Mark Twain's Hero Tells How It Came About.

Portland, Ore.—B. F. Finn, the original "Huckleberry Finn" of Mark Twain's books, has just celebrated his ninetieth birthday at his ranch on the McKenzie river near here, and is hale and hearty.

He has a vivid recollection of Mark Twain, with whom he worked on a Mississippi steamboat, but says Twain really didn't get much from himself of what he wrote about Huckleberry Finn except the name.

"We called Clemens Charley in those days," said Finn. "He and I both worked on the steamer Shotwell, running out of St. Louis. I was nicknamed 'Huckleberry,' and Clemens seemed to take a fancy to the name. Tom Sawyer was my chum, but I was well grown up before Clemens knew me."

Finn has lived on the McKenzie river here for forty years, past, and seldom emerges from his retreat.

THIS BRONCHO MAY END WAR

Finest Little Buckner in the State of Oregon Is Purchased for French Army.

Pendleton, Ore.—Cyrus Noble, one of the greatest little bucking bronchos that ever came out of Oregon, is going to Europe to add to the horrors of war as the mount of a French cavalryman. Cyrus was sold recently to a French officer, who, as agent for his government, is buying horses for use against the Germans. The officer failed to discover the broncho's bucking abilities.

Oregon awaits with interest the advent of Cyrus Noble into the theater of war.

"I pity the fellow who first tries to ride him," said A. Buckeroo, who rode Cyrus for ten minutes last year. "That hoss is liable right there to put both sides to flight and end the war."

At a point just outside of the field there is a large chimney that extends from the top of the ground into the cavern underneath.

ROSE'S FATE

Copyright, 1914, by W. G. Chapman.

A soft drizzling rain was falling on the roses in Constance Atwood's garden to come out and get wet. And the roses were fast appearing as she walked briskly through the damp cinder path in Central park.

It was Saturday afternoon and Constance had promised herself that she would finish knitting the last of her six pairs of socks for the soldier boys before the Wednesday boat should have sailed. Her small brother and sister, being prevented by the rain from playing out of doors, would demand the attention of Sister Constance if she were at home. Therefore she decided to seek the shelter of a summer house in the park, where on a day like this she was sure to be alone.

A beautiful girl sitting alone in a summer house on a cold, drizzling day knitting socks is not an everyday picture. Indeed it was such an unusual sight to Donald Grey when he came upon it that he almost stopped in his course to stare.

Constance looked up casually as he passed and her calm, level gaze met his; then she dropped her eyes, continued her knitting and the man strode on through the winding path.

But the man's peace of mind had been disturbed. Only his deep-rooted sense of chivalry kept him from retracing his steps for one more look at the lovely girl. He realized that he had only a slender chance in a thousand of seeing her again, and yet at that moment he could think of no other person whom he so desired to see again—and often.

Suddenly his musings were abruptly interrupted by the approach of a big Irish park policeman leading a small child reluctantly by the hand. The officer had to stoop to keep a hold of the tiny tot.

"Gotta lost kid!" he said laughingly to Donald.

Donald looked at the pretty little girl. "Fine day for a youngster like that to be alone in the park, isn't it?" "Fine for the pneumonia!" says her ma's knittin' and she run off," volunteered the policeman further.

Donald Grey paled a little. "Knitting, did you say? Her—her mother?"

"Sure! Why not? Ain't they all a-doin' it day an' night for Tommy Atkins and the loike o' him?" asked the officer.

"I saw a young woman back in the summer house—a knittin'," said Donald.

"Where?" asked the policeman, alertly.

"I'll show you—it's quicker," and Donald led the way back to the summer house.

The little one trotted beside the big policeman and Donald, humming gayly. She seemed not to care who her protectors were, so long as she was having a little excitement. Donald could see that much in the tot's eyes.

When she saw the trio approaching Constance stopped knitting and stared. But Donald could see at a glance that she had not lost anybody's baby. She looked from one to the other as the three drew close.

"Askin' yer pardon, lady, but did ye lose this kid?" asked the policeman.

Constance laughed. She shook her head. "No, indeed, I didn't. Is the poor baby lost?"

"She sure is—says her ma's a knittin' and she run away—"

"Ma's doin' that," said the child gayly, pointing to Constance and her knitting.

"Is she, dear?" asked Constance—and Donald realized that she had the voice, too, of his ideal. "And where did you leave your mamma?"

The child made a vague gesture. "Over home with lots o' ladies all knittin' and—"

The policeman took the child again by the hand. "Come on, kid, you'll catch cold out here. I'll find her ma all right. Much obliged." And the big policeman and the little one walked off in the drizzling rain.

Donald Grey raised his hat. "I'm sorry—"

"Oh, it was quite natural, I'm sure. Don't apologize. I only hope they find the baby's mother soon. It's not a day for little ones to be out."

The girl's tone dismissed him and Donald strode on. This time he felt desperate. If he had wanted to know her after a single glance at her, he longed more than ever now that he had seen her smile, and heard her speak, had stood before her.

He would have felt utterly hopeless if he had not been a firm believer in the good Presbyterianism that everything that happens is for the best. If this was the way he was to meet her, never to see her again, why—that was all. If she were meant for him—and with his youthful, hopeful outlook on life, he believed she was—he would find her somewhere.

For nearly two years he sought her, and then, at a benefit dance given to aid the widows and children of soldiers who had fallen in the war, he was presented to her by a patroness of the evening.

"At last, Miss Atwood," he said. And although the girl only smiled, he had the satisfaction of seeing in her eyes a glad look, as if she, too, had been hoping. "And if it is fate," he said to himself, in a flash, "of course, she has been hoping, too."

BILLY SUNDAY GOT RELIGION

NEW YORK, April 30.—The story of Billy Sunday's conversion to religion while he was one of baseball's greatest stars is an old, old, story, but it has never seemed to tire of telling. In response to numerous requests, here is the story again, as it appeared in the April issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Sunday tells the story in a few new features: "Twenty-eight years ago I was down State street in Chicago one Sunday afternoon with some baseball players. We went into a saloon and had several drinks, and then started down the street again. When we reached a vacant lot at the corner of State street, there stood some men and women, with Harry Monroe, their leader, singing gospel hymns and playing on a cornet. We sat down to listen. "I had heard those same hymns sung in the little Methodist building at Anna, Ill., where I used to go to church. I had heard my mother sing them. I bowed my face in my hands for a little while and then arose and went to the other fellows: 'Boys, it's all off; we have come to where the work part,' and I made them good. "When the men and women had finished singing, Harry Monroe said: 'Boys, we invite you to come to the Garden mission to listen to the story of some down and outers—guys who have slid stepped, but are now going square.' I followed along to the mission, and I liked the meeting and went back to others the following nights. "One night I went forward and got on my knees and gave my heart to God. Then I went over to the West Side and joined the Jefferson Park Presbyterian church. I was keeping company then with a young woman, Nell Thompson, who is now Mrs. Sunday. Nell was a Presbyterian, so I became a Presbyterian. If she had been a Catholic I would have become a Catholic. "After that I didn't sleep for several nights and ate little, for I was afraid of the horse-laugh that the boys would give me. One morning I went to the ball grounds for practice. The first man to meet me was Mike Kelly, our catcher. 'Mike' had a heart as big as a woman. He came up to me and said: "Bill, religion ain't my long suit, but if ever Mike can help you, just let me know, for I won't knock you." "Then up came 'Pop' Anson, Ed Williamson, John Clarkson and every member of the famous White Stockings. They all gave me the glad hand. There was none of the rally or knocking. "That afternoon we were playing the old Detroit team and we were fighting hard for the championship. 'Mike' Kelly was catching and John Clarkson pitching. We had them beat by one run when it came up to that last half of the ninth inning. Detroit had men on second and third, with two out. Charley Bennett, their old catcher, was at bat. Charley caught a low one on the nose. "I saw it coming out to right field like a shell out of a mortar, and it was up to me. There were thousands of people out in the field for the grandstand and bleachers had overflowed. I whirled and went with all my speed. I could do 100 yards in ten seconds from the crack of the pistol, and I had run the bases in fourteen seconds. I was going so fast that day that you couldn't see me for dust. I yelled to the crowd: 'Get out of the way!' and they opened up like the Red Sea for the rod of Moses. "And as I ran I offered my first prayer and it was something like this: "God, I'm in an awful hole. Help me out, if you ever helped mortal man in your life; help me get that ball; and you haven't much time to make up your mind." "I looked around and saw that I was about under the ball. I shot out my left hand and the ball struck and stuck. I fell under the feet of a team that stood there, but jumped up with the ball in my hand. "Then up came Tom Johnson, who later became mayor of Cleveland, and his brother Al. "Al said to me: 'Here, Bill, is ten dollars. Go and buy yourself a new hat and tomorrow I'll buy you the best suit of clothes in Chicago. That catch won me $1,500. Some fellow once asked me, 'Did you take the $10?' and I said, 'You bet your life I did.' "I believe the Lord helped me get the ball that day because I was trying to trot on the square for him."

SERVICES FOR SUNDAY AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
At the Baptist church tomorrow the pastor, Rev. Holmes S. Rightmire, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening. The topic of the morning sermon will be: "Confessing, or Taking the Medicine." The evening service will be evangelistic in its nature and the message will have as its subject, "Safety First." The growing Bible school will meet at 9:45 with a class for all ages. The Junior society for the boys and girls will meet at 3:00 p. m. and all boys and girls from 6 to 14 years of age are invited to be present. Mrs. Rightmire will have charge and tell some of her splendid stories that all like so well. The devotional hour of the B. Y. P. U. is held at 6:45 and the increasing numbers present indicate that its worth while. All young people not members of some other society will be welcome. The pastor will preach his usual illustrated sermon to the children at the morning service.

Knockers.
Sometimes it's an opportunity that knocks. Oftener it's only a man.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF ROLLINS AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Rev. Nathaniel M. Pratt, D. D., vice-president and professor of Bible study at Rollins college, Winter Park, will preach at the Congregational church tomorrow morning and evening. Dr. Pratt is a cultured, Christian man, and his sermon will be of great interest and helpful. The pastor, Rev. Wm. J. Drew, extends a very cordial invitation to all to hear the sermons of this able preacher and educator. The hours of service are 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The Christian Endeavor meeting will be at 6:45 p. m. Topic, "Joys of a Christian Life;" a consecration meeting. It is expected to have a May rally at the Christian Endeavor meeting at this time. Sunday school, with opportunity and welcome for all, at 9:45 a. m. The superintendent, A. M. Wing, will gladly welcome all comers.

Ornaments Necessary.
The small furnishings of a room are the things that really furnish it. The wall covering may be in the most approved of neutral tones, the floors may be faultlessly finished, the rugs may be exquisite and in impeccable taste and the furniture may be the product of careful workmanship and careful choosing. Even the pictures on the wall and the lights may be faultless and yet the room in question will lack a certain air of completeness unless a few objects, vaguely termed "ornaments," be included in its furnishings.

MAY FESTIVAL FORMED FINE ENTERTAINMENT

HELD FRIDAY AFTERNOON ON PUBLIC SCHOOL GROUNDS BY MEMBERS OF THE SECOND AND THIRD GRADES.

The May festival held Friday afternoon on the grounds in front of the public school building by the children of the second and third grades was a very pretty entertainment and was quite well attended.

These are the grades that attend the school on Second avenue and the entertainment was in charge of the teachers of the four classes into which they are divided. Mrs. L. H. Ater, Miss Emma Apthorp, Miss Marguerite Brachhold and Miss Inez Barron.

The program opened with a pageant, with the children in costume, presenting a very bright and pretty appearance. This was followed by a butterfly and poppy dance by members of the second grade. After this came the flower race in which five girls engaged in a contest to see which could fill a May basket with flowers in the least time and most attractive manner. This was won by Hazel Irwin of the third grade. The wand drill, by members of the third grade, was a very pretty feature, and then came the sweet pea song and dance by third grade pupils. A sack race by boys of the second grade was won by Spencer Chastain. In the winding of the May pole 20 children of the second grade, 10 girls and 10 boys, participated, forming a very pretty group.

The crowning of the Queen of May was an important and pretty feature of the entertainment. Little Miss Jean Frances Conrad made a charming queen and was crowned by Beatrice Roberts, one of four little fairies, the others bearing the garland. The fairies passed beneath an arch of May baskets, supported by six girls on each side, and after being crowned the queen also passed under the arch.

Miss Lillias Purdy and Miss Meda Lucas, also teachers of the school, were in charge of the sale of cake and lemonade during the afternoon, and the proceeds amounted to $16.75, which was enough to complete paying for the school Victrola and purchase some more records. The Misses Purdy and Lucas were assisted by some of the older girls of the fourth and fifth grades and several of the high school boys acted as judges in the races and made the announcements.

INDIANA MAN MADE AWFUL DISCOVERY

DESPONDENT AND PROBABLY DEMENTED ON ACCOUNT OF ILL-HEALTH, MRS. SARAH KEMP HANGED HERSELF.

When Chas. Kemp returned to his home on Wild Olive avenue, Seabreeze, at 11:00 o'clock this morning, he found the front door locked, although he had left his wife in the house only a short while before. Entering the building through another door and walking into a bedroom, his horrified gaze met the terrible spectacle of Mrs. Kemp's body hanging by the neck to a bedpost. One end of a rope improvised from a stocking was tied to the post and the other end about the unfortunate lady's neck. She was quite dead.

The news spread quickly about the community and several people, among them A. Van de Vord, rushed to the scene. Dr. J. P. Esch was summoned. He made an examination and announced that life had been extinct for some time. Then Acting Coroner John W. Williams was sent for, but after making inquiries relative to the tragedy, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Kemp, with some friends, went to the beach about 10:00 o'clock to enjoy the ocean bathing for a while. Going back to the house an hour later, the husband made the awful discovery that his wife had evidently taken her own life. Naturally, he was indescribably shocked. Discussing the probable reason for his wife's rash act, he stated that she had been in ill-health for some time, and that there had been periods when she was in a state of despondency bordering on insanity. She was about 48 years old.

The body was removed from the Kemp apartments in Seabreeze to Bingham & Maley's undertaking establishment, this afternoon, and prepared for burial. Funeral plans have not yet been announced, but it is assumed that the remains will be shipped to the couple's northern home for interment.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp had been winter residents since early in the season, coming from Garnet, Ind., their home, and to which place they expected to soon return.

Besides the husband, three children survive Mrs. Kemp, but all are grown and reside in the north.

If you favor war, dig a trench in your back yard, fill it half full of water, crawl into it, and stay there for a day or two without anything to eat, get a lunatic to shoot at you with a brace of revolvers and a machine gun, and you will have something just as good, and you will save your country a great deal of expense.—Appeal to Reason.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

A quiet, but very pretty wedding took place this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock when Miss Hazel Dell Williams and Benjamin Foltz, both of Daytona, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, 29 Myrtle avenue.

The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Holmes S. Rightmire, pastor of the First Baptist church, in the presence of relatives of the contracting couple and a few intimate friends.

The rooms of the residence were beautifully decorated with a profusion of palms, ferns and flowers and a color scheme of pink and white was observed in both the decorations and the light refreshments which were served following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Foltz leave this afternoon for a two weeks' bridal trip, visiting St. Augustine, Washington, D. C., Chicago and other points on their way to Omena, Mich. They will remain at Omena during the summer, returning to Daytona next winter.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Williams of this city and Joliet, Ill., and has a charming personality, while the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Foltz, proprietors of the Ivy Lane Inn of this city, and the Clovers and cottages at Omena, Mich., in the management of which he assists his parents.

Both bride and groom are popular with the young people of Daytona and have a host of friends in the city and vicinity to wish them the greatest happiness in their married life.
